UNDERGROUND OPPOSITION TO NANKING

Taxicab Company Strike

The Yellow Taxicab Company's fleet of taxis has been off the road since Saturday following a strike of its 50-odd employees.

The walk-out followed month-old efforts by the men to get the management to reinstate two of their fellow-workers who were dismissed at the beginning of the month. The two dismissed employees were workers' delegates in the recent wage increase negotiations.

The men presented an ultimatum to the management on Thursday, demanding the reinstatement of the two dismissed workers, with full pay for the period they were out, and an assurance that similar summary dismissals would not occur again. The deadline was set for Saturday.

The Company agreed to pay the men wages in lieu of notice, but would not take them back. Fellow taxicab drivers employed by other companies have rallied to the support of the strikers with financial contributions. The Auto Drivers' Union, of which the strikers are members, has countenanced the strike, and fellow unionists have been urged to give the men their moral and financial support.

FILIPINO CLUB ANNUAL MEETING

The Filipino Club is not only a Club but a rendezvous for the members to which they could bring their wives and lady friends, declared Dr. V. N. Atienza at the annual meeting of the Club held yesterday.

Shortly after the re-occupation a Rehabilitation Committee was formed, under the leadership of Dr. Atienza (said the annual report). It worked so hard and untiringly that repairs, etc. were completed by Dec. 20, 1946. A sum of $4,800 was collected by this committee.

Further donations, totalling $5,929, were received from members, among whom were Mr. Kingsley, Mr. R. de la Sala, Mr. Alan MacKenzie, Mr. T. B. Wilson, and Mrs. J. S. Landolt. Messrs. John Manners & Co. were entrusted with the reconstruction of the Club, declared the President, and the Club owed them a great debt of gratitude for waiting so patiently for payment of their account. Dr. Atienza (President) was supported by Messrs. I. S. Castro (Hon. Secretary) and R. J. Manalac (Hon. Treasurer); as well as other members of the Committee.

In his report, the Hon. Secretary stated that repairs on the Clubhouse were completed on Dec. 20, 1946 at a cost of $5,513, of which $4,800 was received from members of the local Filipino community and keen supporters of the Club.

The re-opening of the Club occurred on "Ritual Day," Dec. 20, 1946, when the flag of the Philippine Republic was hoisted by Mrs. R. de la Sala.

The popularity of lawn bowls has encouraged the Committee to return the green at a cost of $2,200, and the expending of a further $1,753.50 on the purchase of equipments.

In his address, the President said that the Club was lucky to function again with a bigger membership than before. When he first saw the premises after the war they were sorry-looking. They were without woodwork, furniture and fixtures, while the grounds were full of weeds.

"Romantic Place"

The number of members at present total 125, said the speaker, "but we could do with

Shanghai, Nov. 2.
The magnitude and frequency of arrests and detention in all parts of China in the past few weeks, coupled with the disclosure of alleged plots against the Government, appear to lend support to assertions by foreign observers that the number of persons dissatisfied with the present National Government is larger than generally acknowledged.

The Government itself has no apparent illusions over the size and strength of its underground opposition as the suppression of the Liberal third party indicates.

At the same time, Nanking has ordered a general house-cleaning in nearly every community to root out what it calls "subversive" elements. This campaign seems to have been extended to universities.

Four student leaders at Nanchow have been arrested for being "Communists." The alleged suicide of one of these youths touched off demonstrations of 2,000 undergraduates of the Chekiang University.

Members of the Democratic League, the only minority group within China which so far has raised its voice against the government—charge the Kuomintang with using terrorist methods to put down any kind of liberal movement threatening the party's hold on the government.

If the government's accusations against some of its trusted subordinates are true the whole governmental structure must be eaten into by Communist cells of resistance.

"Red Spies"

The latest development of this kind centre in North China and Manchuria, where several hundred people, many of them working in government agencies, have been placed under arrest for being "Red spies."

Whether or not the Reds were actively behind all those in the groups singled out for punishment has not been fully established. There seems to be no question they were encouraging, from a distance, an uprising, which could be fomented inside inflation-plagued Nationalist China.

One of the least publicised weapons the Communists have employed so far has been the much more. The Club is situated in a most romantic place where members could bring their wives and sweethearts. A voice: "Not at the same time."

Full-hearted support from the members is very badly needed, emphasised the President, as the Club is at present without a lavatory and a bathroom, and with only a few chairs and tables. Furthermore, lawn bowls woods and other equipment are badly needed.

Dr. Atienza concluded by expressing the gratitude of the Club for the hard work done by Messrs. I. S. Castro, S. F. Angeles, R. J. Manalac, W. V. Field, and Mrs. J. S. Landolt.

Rules

On the proposal of the President, the following amendments to the Rules were adopted: First, that the entrance fee should be increased to $10; secondly, that the subscription should be boosted to $3; and, thirdly, that the Committee should be increased from five to 12 members, exclusive of the four officials.

When nominated as the President for the current year, Mr. E. Bejasa, Vice-President of the Philippines in Hong Kong, thanked the proposer but declared that he could not accept the nomination as he did not believe that a Government official should be an active officer of a Club.

On the proposal of the President, seconded by Mr. Manalac, Mr. Bejasa was unanimously elected Patron of the Club.

After Dr. Atienza had, by popular vote, been re-elected President, the following officers were elected: Vice-President, R. J. Manalac; Hon. Secretary, Mr. E. S. Castro; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. A. G. de Jesus. Members of the Committee: Messrs. T. Gatchalian, F. Carpio, B. Hidalgo, S. Falter, M. V. Vasquez, M. de Guzman, A. Arzon, W. V. Field, C. Dinanig, P. M. Joaquin, F. Gonzalez, and S. F. Angeles.

This is not a question of fact, the police chief explained, "Who knows how many..."

Secession From Junagadh

New Delhi, Nov. 2.
The Indian Government announces that it has sent troops to disputed Babariwad and Mangrol, "vassal states" of Junagadh, whose princely ruler has joined his largely Hindu-populated territory to Moslem Pakistan, and has taken over the administration.

The two states have refused to go with the Moslem ruler of Junagadh and acceded to Hindu India.

Junagadh is in the Kathiawar Peninsula on the west coast, several hundred miles from Pakistan. A communique issued by the Government of India said its troops entered both areas under a flag of truce and equipped with loud speakers. The occupation was "peaceful" and was greeted with rejoicing. The action was said by an official to have taken place during the last week of October.—Associated Press.

WHAT CIVIL WAR IN CHINA MEANS

(By Anthony Ullstein)
Sungchiawatzu, Oct. 31 (delayed).
This village, which is half an hour's walk beyond Changchun's outer fortifications, today provided a lifelike picture of the typical engagement in the Chinese civil war—a raid for ammunition and winter clothing by a hundred or so Communists, who finally were driven out by daybreak rather than force.

The raid, accompanied by somewhat more intense "demoralization attacks" on Changchun's two airfields, was carried out last night (Thursday) by Communists belonging to a "second class" division which rules the countryside. This division is likely to continue harassing Changchun with raids of similar pattern.

Although the Reds broke away from their standard guerrilla tactics when they assaulted Szepingkai in force last May—and although the present "mugging" around Kirin threatens to repeat the performance—the brief furious action which this village saw last night typifies 70 per cent of the fighting being done in China today.

Sungchiawatzu, a village of brick and mud huts with about 200 families, sits near the base of a light knoll hemmed by the fortified city of Changchun.

When I left the last concrete pillbox behind, the mud road was filled with pencycars, trundling, cabbage to the market. The Communists had held the road several hours before but this morning the people looked cheerful and were not concerned.

Not Panicky

I remembered what a Changchun observer told me:—"The people here are not panicky. They figure they got nowhere to flee anyway."

The road swarmed with men and boys carrying spades. They were rounded up to dig trenches by a regiment of the Nationalist New First Army which had arrived from Changchun this morning. When the Communists struck, however, the village boasted a defence force of only 36 policemen.

"Falu" (Eighth Route Army) men came in by a ditch, the police chief told me, adding: "They numbered about 100. They fired rifles, we fired rifles. The common people hid indoors. It was after midnight. I could not see much."

Then about eight Red cavalrymen galloped through the village and the policemen withdrew, to the neighbouring village of Kuangchungtzu.

"Just at that time," the police chief continued, "six of our men were captured. We lost the entire stock of ammunition and winter clothing." I asked him: "Any body killed?"

"One of our men was wounded," he said.

En route to Kuangchungtzu, the Communists raided a four-storey factory building, housing a regiment of "Peace Preservation" troops, who fled from the windows but did not rally out.

"Who Knows?"
This is not a question of fact, the police chief explained, "Who knows how many..."

MOVIE-GOERS OF SHANGHAI IN A QUANDRY

Shanghai, Nov. 2. Shanghai movie-goers today didn't know where their next movie was coming from. They were caught in a battle between the Shanghai Municipality's Bureau of Social Affairs on the one hand and the city's foreign movie distributors and movie houses on the other.

During the past month the municipality has demanded everything from a "donation" of C.N.$3,000,000,000 (about U.S.$55,000) to a 20 percent "winter relief tax" on theatres.

The Shanghai Cinema Exhibitors' Guild turned down the "donation" demand two weeks ago and—threatening to close all cinemas in the city tomorrow—rejected the winter relief tax last night. (In Peking, American and British film distributors cut off supplies to movie houses on October 9 when the Peking Chinese army garrison demanded free shows for Chinese soldiers during regular performance hour. Latest dispatches from Peking said the city's movie houses reported attendance down to 15 percent of normal due to lack of foreign films.)

The Outbreak

The movie-municipality battle started in Shanghai in the early part of October.

Movie houses sent the municipality copies of their regular petitions for an increase in admission prices due to inflationary increases all round.

The municipality, after some consideration, granted increases "provisionally."

The provision was that theatres and distributors agree to "contribute" C.N.$3,000,000,000 "donation" to charity. Then the battle was on.

After some skirmishing the local movie distributors counter-offered with a donation of C.N.$300,000,000 only. The municipality rejected this and in turn demanded a 30 percent "winter relief tax."

The movie houses rejected this late this week.

Two days ago the municipality sent in a modified demand—a 20 percent relief tax.

"Shake Down"

Shanghai's American-owned Evening Post and Mercury, calling the incident an attempted "shake down" of the part of the municipality, said: "Anywhere else in the world this would represent a major scandal."

Yesterday Shanghai's movie houses, backed by American and British film distributors who threatened to suspend their supplies, turned down the municipality's latest demand. And last night local movie-goers packed into the city's cinema "just in case."—Associated Press.

Chinese Missionary Slain By Reds

New York, Nov. 1. Rev. Richard E. Vanney, director of the Rotary Mission Society of Dominican Fathers, said today he had received word that Chinese Communists killed Rev. James L. Devine in Fukien Province.

He said the Rev. Devine had been a missionary in China since 1939 and was kidnapped by the Communists last May, but word of his death had just been received.—United Press.

Spanish Appeal To U.S. About Franco?

Madrid, Oct. 31.

Don Jose Marie Gil Robles, leader of the Spanish exiled Catholic Monarchist Party, is expected to go to Washington in the near future to ask the United States Secretary of State, Mr. George Marshall, for his support in overthrowing General Franco's regime, it was disclosed here by some of Senor Robles' friends.

A spokesman for an important group of Monarchists told Reuters: "American support is the most important of all. To restore our economy, we need ample credit from the United States."

He added that there should be no need for apprehension about unrest in Spain with the overthrow of the Franco regime.

It was certain, he said, that the Army would be loyal to the Pretender, Don Juan, and that any strikes or other disturbances would be promptly repressed.

Many Monarchists, however, do not agree that foreign help should be asked in to overthrow General Franco.

It is not easy to assess the Monarchist strength in Spain today. The only existing Monarchist group with official status is the "Monarchist Organisation" which, apart from Senor Gil Robles, includes such personalities as the Duke of Alba, who has much influence among the titled aristocracy, the Duke of Maura, General Alfredo Kindelan, Don Julio Wain and Don Juan Ventosa, who represent a group of Catalan Monarchist businessmen.

The letter, addressed by Count Alvaro Romanones to Mr. Ernest Bevin after the British Foreign Secretary's interview with Senor Robles, accusing Mr. Bevin of "intolerable interference in Spanish affairs" reflected the feelings of many supporters of the monarchy.

Meanwhile, the United States and

British Bishop Has Poor View Of Modern Wives

London, Nov. 1.

The Bishop of Rochester (Dr. Christopher Chavasse) asserted today that the modern wife "plays the harlot or the amateur inamorata" for her husband and contributes to a "spreading rot" in British morals.

The 63-year-old Church of England bishop called for a Government commission "to think out scientifically the policy that should govern the pattern of life."

In a small book "Five Questions Before the Church," published today, Chavasse asserted that in present-day Britain "moral standards of every sort are openly flouted in all sections of society."

He noted that British legal leaders have set up speeded court machinery to deal with 50,000 divorces a year and asserted that "increasing facilities for divorce are inevitably giving courting couples the impression that marriage need be no more than a trial partnership."

Quoting Blacke

The bishop, who is married and the father of five children, cited a statement by William Blacke, a century and a half ago, that "the harlots' cry from street to street shall weave old England's winding sheet."

"Generally speaking it is not just but incompatibility that begins the rift in marriage," he wrote.

"Nevertheless, the actual break is nearly always the result of an illicit infatuation, whatever may have led up to it."

"Fornication and adultery thus remains the prime factors in dissolution of a partnership."

The bishop called on "the Church of England to re-examine the traditional doctrine both of the western, and eastern branches of Christendom on the indissolubility of marriage."

"One thing is certain," the bishop declared, "a church policy which rules out the possibility of forgiveness and restoration is contrary to Christianity."—Associated Press.

They left immediately for General MacArthur's residence at the American Embassy where they will remain while in Tokyo.

A busy eight-day schedule will begin at 1330 with luncheon given by the Supreme Commander and will include a dinner to-night with Major General Paul Mueller, Chief of Staff.

A party spokesman said the Tribune publisher would talk to MacArthur as "an old friend."

He denied rumours current here that one purpose of the Colonel's visit is to sound out MacArthur on his availability for the Presidential campaign.

They will confer privately following the luncheon today and may meet again before the publisher's party departs on Thursday night for a brief visit to Kyoto and Osaka district.

A railway inspector said that the safety speed for the switch-over would have been 18 to 20 miles an hour.

A repair worker said that the work was almost completed when the accident happened.

Colonel Trench, Inspector of Accidents, conducting the inquiry, asked: "A few minutes later and it would have been all right?"

The man answered "Yes."

Signalman White said that from his box he saw coaches "one after the other being crushed up together with glass falling from the sides."

"I saw the rear part of the engine still spinning, and shortly after it went over the top, there was a big puff of steam."

"What seemed to take up the whole of my attention," was the engineer, "one after the other just being crushed up and glass dropping down."

Almost in tears, White asked: "Do you want to go on?"

Colonel Trench replied: "No. It must have been a terrible sight."—Reuters.

JOURNALIST M.P. RESIGNS FROM LABOUR PARTY

London, Nov. 1.

Mr. Garry Allighan, the Labour Member of Parliament for Gravesend, who was expelled from the House of Commons this week, has resigned from the Labour Party.

In a letter to Mr. Morgan Phillips, the Secretary of the Labour Party, Mr. Allighan, who was found guilty of "gross contempt of Parliament" last Thursday, and pleaded guilty of a breach of confidence in private Parliamentary affairs, stated that, in view of the decision of the House of Commons, "it would be obvious illogical for me to continue to regard myself as a Member of the Labour Party, and to put things regular, I beg to tender my resignation as dating from October 30."

Investigation

The Commons Committee of Privileges investigated charges against Mr. Allighan after the publication of an article by him in the "World's Press News" alleging that some Members of Parliament were being paid for information about private Parliamentary meetings.

The House of Commons, debating the Committee's report, found Mr. Allighan had committed a breach of privilege in seeking to cast suspicion on others when he was himself guilty of accepting payments for such information.

Mr. Evelyn Walkden, also a Labour Member of Parliament, who admitted to Parliament during the last session that he had been paid for confidential information about Parliamentary business, was reprimanded by the House.—Reuters.

WORLD'S LARGEST FLYING BOAT

Long Beach, Nov. 1.

The world's largest aircraft, Howard Hughes' flying boat which took five years and US$25,000,000 to build, was floated in the harbour here today for the first time.

Four days before the reopening in Washington of a Congressional hearing into plane builder Hughes' contracts with the Government, the flying boat passed the first of a series of preflight tests.

After water was pumped into the concrete drydock in which the giant plywood craft was assembled, tractors hauled the 400,000 pound craft out into the harbour channel.

Tomorrow Hughes will put the ship through its first taxing runs. The craft's eight engines, developing 24,000 horse-power, were not in operation today.—Associated Press.

"The Colonel" Has Come To The East

Tokyo, Nov. 2.

Colonel and Mrs. McCormick arrived at 0525 today, full of energy at the start of their Far Eastern tour despite a 10 hour flight from Wake.

They left immediately for General MacArthur's residence at the American Embassy where they will remain while in Tokyo.

A busy eight-day schedule will begin at 1330 with luncheon given by the Supreme Commander and will include a dinner to-night with Major General Paul Mueller, Chief of Staff.

A party spokesman said the Tribune publisher would talk to MacArthur as "an old friend."

He denied rumours current here that one purpose of the Colonel's visit is to sound out MacArthur on his availability for the Presidential campaign.

They will confer privately following the luncheon today and may meet again before the publisher's party departs on Thursday night for a brief visit to Kyoto and Osaka district.

A railway inspector said that the safety speed for the switch-over would have been 18 to 20 miles an hour.

A repair worker said that the work was almost completed when the accident happened.

Colonel Trench, Inspector of Accidents, conducting the inquiry, asked: "A few minutes later and it would have been all right?"

The man answered "Yes."

Signalman White said that from his box he saw coaches "one after the other being crushed up together with glass falling from the sides."

"I saw the rear part of the engine still spinning, and shortly after it went over the top, there was a big puff of steam."

"What seemed to take up the whole of my attention," was the engineer, "one after the other just being crushed up and glass dropping down."

Almost in tears, White asked: "Do you want to go on?"

Colonel Trench replied: "No. It must have been a terrible sight."—Reuters.

Minutes Lost Sent 28 To Death

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Oct. 31.

A difference of a few minutes might have saved the Edinburgh-London express which crashed at Goswick, Northumberland, with a loss of 28 lives last Sunday, a railwayman stated at the Ministry of Transport inquiry into the accident here today.

Relief signalman Thomas White said that the train was travelling at about 60 miles per hour when it ploughed off the track on switching to a loop line from the main line, which was under repair.

Suffolk Villagers In Luck

Dunwich, Suffolk, Nov. 1.

As a result of a last-minute decision by the owner to sell house by house instead of in one lot, cottagers of the ancient Suffolk village of Dunwich own their own houses today.

The former owner, Commander F.D.G. Lloyd, bought the estate recently from the Barne family in whose possession it has been for centuries.

His change of decision probably cost him thousands of pounds.

The villagers bought the cottages from prices ranging between £200 and £400.

Each time an "outside" bid, there was a war of "tongues" from 200 villagers. During the sale the auctioneer publicly congratulated the villagers.

"These houses are worth twice what you are paying for them."

Only once did a villager fail to obtain a home. Miss Laura Semence, a schoolmistress, was out but Commander Lloyd enabled her to buy it later.

The sale realised a total of £58,000.—Reuter.

The following are some of the new highlights in the Japanese situation:

Prices

Price structure—A fresh egg in the cities costs around 20 yen.

The same money a few years before the "Mukden Incident" in 1931 would have bought 400 eggs or paid more than a month's wage for a maid-servant.

The egg is only a typical hint of the general price alterations. Most Japanese fear inflation will deepen in the next 60 days without the customary seasonal gains.

The Cabinet Price Board twice recently announced its determination to hold the standard government wage scale at 1,800 yen a month. At the same time, the Katayama Cabinet adopted a 50 per cent increase in the official consumer price and simultaneously introduced similar increases in the prices of other basic agricultural products.

The government, also defying protests, upped the officially monopolised costs of tobacco and transportation and postage rates.

Ng Tan-fung (Miss Hong Kong 1947), who was in the limelight recently when she sued her husband at the Central Magistracy for "persistent cruelty and assault," has again made the headlines, this time as the leading star in a locally produced Chinese film titled "Love Affairs of the Rich."

The charges brought by Ng against her husband were later withdrawn and an agreement for divorce signed by the parties.

Co-starred with Ng in "Love Affairs of the Rich" is Li Lan, (Miss Hong Kong 1946) and Ng Chor-fan, the Clark Gable of Chinese movies.

The picture, which is being shown simultaneously at the Kwok Man Tai Ping, Sun Wah, Yau-mat, and Poho Theatres, drew full houses yesterday and special performances were arranged to cope with the large crowds anxious to have a glimpse of Miss Hong Kong 1947 in her new role.

Ng was elected "Miss Hong Kong 1947" at a Grand Charity Swimming and Bathing Beauty Contest held in aid of British and Chinese Flood Relief Funds on July 27.

An exclusively reported in the "China Mail" on July 28, Ng was, after being awarded the verdict, besieged in her dressing room by representatives of different Chinese film companies, all of whom endeavored to outbid each other in getting her signature on the dotted line.

DANGER SIGNALS IN JAPAN

Currency Circulation Reaches Unprecedented Peak

Inflation Fears

Tokyo, Nov. 1.

The Bank of Japan's announcement over the weekend revealing that currency in circulation had reached another unprecedented peak of 167,065,000,000 yen impressed most observers as another danger signal that a hard winter, economically, politically and socially, is in store for inflation-ridden Japan. The Bank announced that paper currency in circulation jumped 1,127,000,000 yen in a single day to reach an all-time high.

(At the beginning of this year money in circulation was a little over 1,000,000,000 yen. The government's freezing act, aimed desperately to check inflation, was taken in February, 1946, when banknotes in circulation were about half that amount. From then on, inflation steadily gained.)

The means the present volume of Japanese money in circulation is roughly 112 times that during 1931, the year when Japan started her conquest of the Asiatic continent. Present prices are correspondingly higher.

The following are some of the new highlights in the Japanese situation:

Why Mr. De Valera Is Visiting London

London, Nov. 1.

The Anglo-Irish trade talks due to be resumed here after the arrival tomorrow of the Eire Prime Minister, Mr. Eamon de Valera, will meet with full success and will result in making the two countries economies complementary, well-informed circles said.

The main undertaking by Eire, it was said, would be to send coal to Eire almost at once to relieve her of the burden of paying £7 a ton in dollars to the United States suppliers.

In return, Eire would agree to a new agricultural programme aimed at cutting her wheat acreage and greatly increasing the production of meat, bacon and butter for sale to Britain.—Reuter.

POSITION IN THE PACIFIC

When all the wool of official verbiage has been shorn aside, it seems apparent that the duties and responsibilities of the British Empire in the Far East and the Pacific are now to be left in the hands of two small Dominions... one with a population of a little over seven and a half million people and the other harbouring short of two million.

The dollar-crisis and a recurrent series of internal misadventures, which bear a close approximation to "Acts of God," are forcing Britain to save money on her world-wide defences.

She has been compelled to withdraw her occupation troops from Japan and persistent reports state that her military strength in Malaya, Singapore and Hong Kong will be reduced to token size.

(In this regard it is perhaps significant that rumours of the closing of Hong Kong as a free base have never been completely denied.)

According to reliable sources, the task of defence in the Pacific is to be left to Australia and New Zealand.

Perhaps this is not so illogical as it sounds.

To both Dominions the "Far East" is a very "Near East." Both are vitally interested.

What happens in Asia affects both Australia and New Zealand.

... and what happens in Australia and New Zealand must in the ultimate affect Asia.

It remains to be seen how Australia and New Zealand will respond.

The news from Australia, at least, is encouraging.

Australia is taking her responsibilities seriously and the accent is on air-power.

The Australian Government intends to spend £24,000,000 on a naval air arm, including secret improvements at which British scientists are now working.

Progress has also been made in "push-button" flying experiments.

With Lincoln bombers substituted for jet-propelled projectiles, the R.A.A.F. has achieved some remarkable results.

Lincolns have been "aimed" on a predetermined course at a target over 2,000 miles away, with the controls virtually locked after take-off and no deviation of flight permitted.

A Lincoln, aimed at Sydney from Perth (more than 2,000 miles) missed its target by only half a mile.

These experiments are proceeding independently of the British Commonwealth secret weapon project on the South Australian desert rocket range.

In addition, Australian pilots are being trained to fly Sea Fury and Firefly planes in preparation for the delivery of aircraft carriers of the "Glorious" class from British shipyards next year.

Within four years, Australia will have 100,000 men in training... easily the highest peacetime force in her history.

The present Australian defence allocation stands at £250,000,000. Latest Canberra reports say that it will be extended.

Whatever happens in the Pacific, Australia intends to be prepared.

INTERNATIONAL LAW ... AND THE SOVIET

By
Dr. Paul Weiss

During the International Law Conference organised by the Grotius Society in London, the Secretary of the International Law Association which is allied to the Grotius Society, announced his regret that the Association, which has branches in nearly every country, had no branch in the Soviet Union; he expressed the hope that it might soon be able to create one there, and trusted that his words would receive widespread publicity.

In view of the present world situation, it may seem strange that such a suggestion should be made. It may even convey the impression that the Conference took place in an atmosphere of unreality and that the participants were not conscious of the hard realities of the political situation. But this was not the case. They were fully aware of the prevailing international difficulties and saw the clouds gathering on the international horizon. Part of the Conference was devoted to the question of ascertaining how far International Law affects the behaviour of countries. The speaker gave examples from history where International Law had been violated by great powers without international action having been taken to implement International Law.

Many such violations had, in fact, been tolerated or even subsequently agreed to. In 1870, Tsarist Russia flagrantly violated the Black Sea Convention; the following year this was accepted by the Great Powers at the London Conference, although a protest was raised against the breach of treaty obligations. In 1908, the Austro-Hungarian Empire, in violation of International Law, annexed Bosnia and Herzegovina, without meeting resistance. Although, as the speaker emphasised, the attitude of the country is generally determined by the rules of International Law, such violations are not precluded. The speaker closed his address with the remark that as long as the present situation prevails and great powers with fundamentally different ideologies confront each other, no change in this state of affairs can be expected.

How can such scepticism, such a realistic outlook in the judgment of the political balance of power be reconciled with the above-mentioned call for expansion of an organisation, the task of which is to study and perfect International Law? This certainly cannot be called political naivety. It is more than ever necessary today, when sharp contrasts exist in great political questions, and when they clash in the official international organisations at which all countries are represented, that co-operation should be sought in private international organisations.

conditions but are by no means Utopian. Here, too, progress of any kind must depend upon co-operation, which found expression in the call to set up a branch of the International Law Association in the Soviet Union. It is no mere chance that this call for co-operation in the field of International Law came at this time from Britain. The British legal code and British justice are fully appreciated throughout the world. The British are recognised as one of the most law-abiding of peoples and Britain keeps to the rulings of International Law in her international dealings. As one of the speakers remarked: It would be unthinkable for any conflict arising between Britain and the United States not to be settled peacefully and in accordance with the ruling of International Law. The same should hold good for the relations between all States. Britain's Government recently put forward a draft for an international bill of human rights. This draft comes in the realm of possibility and, in the circumstances, should achieve practicable form. It proposes only to stipulate such human rights and to lay down essential clauses to safeguard them, which could be agreed by the representatives of the various ideologies and accepted by the representatives of every State. One of the speakers advocated an international minimum bill of human rights. If every fundamental difference of opinion were eliminated, there still remained ideas common to all cultures. It would be necessary to reduce them to a common denominator. It would be possible to build a common international code from these human rights common to every State. Any such arrangement must be based on mutual understanding. It is to be hoped that Britain's call will not remain unheard.

Britain's Call

At the close of the Conference, the President of the Grotius Society, Sir Cecil Hurst, former Vice-President of the Hague International Court of Justice, urged all those participating in the Conference concerned with International Law, especially to direct their work and their efforts to two international problems; the codification of International Law and an international bill of human rights. The realisation of these aims may be difficult under present

Spain Asked To Eject Germans

Madrid, Nov. 1. The British and American Governments today firmly requested the Spanish Government for the last time to deliver to the Allied Mission the number of obnoxious Germans still living in the country.

It was learned that Washington and London instructed their respective Charges d'Affaires, Paul Culbertson and Douglas Howard, to compile a list of some 100 Gestapo members, Military Intelligence members and Nazi Party executives, urging the Spanish Government to round up and deliver the same as soon as possible.

It was recalled that it is almost one year since the last plane-load of dangerous Germans was flown to Germany. Considerable difficulty has been encountered in locating the remaining enemies whom Spanish connections were concealing in remote towns and villages.

The entire affair has become so involved that Culbertson and Howard visited the Spanish Foreign Minister, Martin Artajo.

All agreed to make one final effort to round up truly dangerous Germans and then consider the entire question definitely closed.

The last obnoxious Germans, originally the list of Germans the Allies wished to see repatriated, totalled 2,400 of whom the majority of the families have been living in Spain for years in some cases since the First World War.

Of this figure, the Allied Control estimated, some 240 were dangerous Gestapo killers and agents of whom after much prodding, the Spanish police managed to deliver some 60 individuals, who were flown to the British and American zones of Germany.

This latest request by the Allies is being carried out under the greatest secrecy in order to surprise earmarked obnoxious Germans; but it is feared that it will be difficult to apprehend them because of inevitable leaks from responsible quarters.

It was said that during the past year a good number had already either got away to

THE BELL TOLLS

Warsaw, Nov. 1. For killing and torturing women prisoners, a Polish tribunal sentenced to death 10 former officials of a German concentration camp at Stutthof, near Danzig.

Sixteen others were sentenced to prison for three to five years.

South America, believed, Argentina, and others were deeply dug in Spain.

There was also a number of cases in which the Germans who were repatriated eventually worked their way back to Spain through the Catalan frontier.

The more conspicuous wanted persons include the head of the Nazi party in Spain, Otto Kramer, and Express Chief Hans Lazar, both of whom were officially listed as missing.—United Press.

Scientists Get 'Atomic' Headaches

One of the worst headaches that scientists ever have encountered is how to dispose of the "hot" radio-active atoms from atomic ovens and atomic generator machines.

They cannot be blown into the air, they cannot be buried in the ground and they cannot be tossed into the sea. Some of them have lives of a century, all the time dangerous, and others for many years, a few last millions of years.

There never has been a problem like this.

Any disposal previously known for wastes will leave these atoms to menace present and future generations.

Does any one have a suggestion for a good, safe burying ground for hot atoms? This was in effect the problem presented to the first conference in biology and medicine, held here in the Brookhaven National Laboratory of the Atomic Energy Commission. There was no satisfactory answer.

This is not a present problem, for the few atoms now in scientific hands are not numerous enough for public risk.

But, in future, when atomic power is generally used, the wastes may amount annually to the terrific rays that would come from 10,000 tons of radium.

Long before that, there will be enough of these radio-active atoms in medical, scientific and industrial use to force the discovery of an atomic burying ground.

Not yet known is how much human beings, animals and plants can safely take of the dispersed radio-activity that can be spread in air, water, and food in an atomic age.

Completely mysterious is the question of how much of this stuff will perhaps cause genetic mutations and so alter heredity.

That there are safe limits is considered certain. But they still have to be learned.

Meanwhile, the atomic scientists of America are taking precautions. The caution extends to the choices even of persons permitted to buy radio-active atoms from the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dr. P. C. Akerbeld, in charge of these atoms, said they are sold only to organizations able to guarantee safe handling. These atoms are allocated only for experiments. They are not yet sold to industry, although Dr. Akerbeld said this can be done safely.

The Commission is waiting for the results of further safety studies before setting up industrial precautions.

New rules now in the making for safety in shipment of radio-active atoms include: (1) that no container shall be less than four inches on a side. This is to prevent any person from carrying such a live hot box in his pocket. (2) that heavy packages be put on the heavy packages, in order to prevent any worker from carrying the package in the favourite position—cradled against the stomach. The idea is to force him to carry it near his lower legs.

There is no way of quenching this radio-activity and from what physicians now know these probably never will be.

One proposal has been to seal these waste atoms in concrete cylinders and throw them into the sea.

Dr. J. E. Rose, of the University of Chicago, discussing this one, said that 100 years hence such cylinders might begin breaking open. The atoms, still hot, still alive, would leave forth to contaminate fish and plants, to be lifted in operation from the sea and to fall on the land in rain. Dr. Rose said that an abandoned salt mine has also been suggested. The merit of such a mine is its almost permanent dryness.

If radio-active atoms are buried in ground that water can reach, during a long period of time they will dissolve and spread until they run with the underground water to exits to the air and the clouds.

Some of the atoms have short lives of a few days or weeks. These can be stored in a basement inside lead and concrete until they die.

Certain of the hot atoms now used in experiments on animals are satisfactorily disposed of by ordinary incineration of the carcasses. These atoms, too, belong to the short-lived class.

Not yet known is how much human beings, animals and plants can safely take of the dispersed radio-activity that can be spread in air, water, and food in an atomic age.

Completely mysterious is the question of how much of this stuff will perhaps cause genetic mutations and so alter heredity.

(2) that heavy packages be put on the heavy packages, in order to prevent any worker from carrying the package in the favourite position—cradled against the stomach. The idea is to force him to carry it near his lower legs.

There is one great saving principle in all this hot-atom safety planning. Distance is protection. There is no exception to this principle. Even a few inches' distance may make the difference between safety and possible harm. As the distance between the source of the radiation and the person exposed to it increases, the danger decreases.

Do you know the play called "The Glass Menagerie"? It is about a family that lives in a glass house. The glass is so thin that the family can see the world outside, but the world cannot see them. This is the danger of radio-active atoms. They are invisible, but they can see you.

Old Family Servants To Attend Wedding

A Grandmother Bequeaths Her Birthday

London, Nov. 1. A grand-mother bequeathed her birthday to her grand-daughter because hers fell on Christmas Day. It was disclosed in a will published today.

Mrs. Anna S. C. Campbell, died aged 87, leaving more than £22,000. Left £500 to her grand-daughter and "my own birthday, June 16, to be kept by her, self and her friends so long as she lives. She will thus have the enjoyment of two festivals in the year instead of only one as hitherto."

—Reuter.

Another Horror Camp Loss

London, Nov. 1. Members of his family said tonight that Sir Archibald Southby, Conservative M.P. for Epsom since 1928, will resign soon because of the ill health that has plagued him ever since he and other members visited the German horror camp at Buchenwald in 1945.

Another member of the Buchenwald party, Mrs. Mavis Tate, (Cons.) committed suicide by coal gas poisoning last June after also being in poor health since viewing the piles of corpses and other evidences of Nazi torture at the camp.

At Sir Archibald's Burford (Oxfordshire) home, a family spokesman said: "Sir Archibald has been ill ever since he went to Buchenwald, and he is more or less a semi-invalid."

"He has been in nursing homes under treatment by specialists but has not made much headway."

"He cannot walk very well and he cannot sign his signature."

Sir Archibald is 61.—United Press.

Japanese To Honour Dr. Hepburn

Tokyo, Nov. 2. Two thousand Japanese tomorrow will throw a downtown Tokyo autograph to honour the memory of Dr. James C. Hepburn, beloved by the nation as the man who first put its difficult writing into English letters.

Hepburn, who died in 1911, was known to the Japanese as "The Apostle of Peace."

The best medical doctor of the Meiji era, Hepburn was regarded by the Japanese as one of the greatest missionaries ever to come from the United States.

The commemorative committee announcement said the ceremony is designed to develop friendly relations with the United States.

It added that while "so many" Americans have contributed to the development of Japan, we definitely are sure that "one who should be permanently remembered is our beloved Doctor Hepburn—messenger of peace, love and service."

Hepburn's biographer, W.E. Griffis, said: "Commodore Perry won political Japan from a her-

Girls Who Make Bridal Dress Will Be There

London, Nov. 1. Princess Elizabeth has invited several old family servants and four girls who have helped to make her wedding dress to her wedding on November 20 at Westminster Abbey.

Among nearly 2,000 guests will be Miss Eta McLean, from Invernesshire who was the Queen's maid when she was a girl and the stationmaster at Wolferton, Norfolk—the station for the King's estate at Sandringham.

Other invitations have gone to William Doe and Ronald Lamb who wove the silk for the bridal train, and to the Princess's former riding instructor.

Public Appearance

Meanwhile, at Gorham (Wiltshire), Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten, who is to marry Princess Elizabeth on November 20, made his first public speech in this little Wiltshire village today when he unveiled a war memorial.

He had driven over from the nearby Royal Navy Petty Officers' School at Kingsnare, where he is an instructor.

"Only a few years after the armistice," he said, "we are already talking about the chances of another war."

"I believe it is right that we should accept the possibility of another war. But I also believe it is wrong to accept that another war is inevitable.

"It is only by each one of us actively working for peace all the time that we can reduce the chances of another outbreak of the horror of modern war."

Hold-Up

In New York, a Manhattan shopping tour nearly prevented Mackenzie King, Canadian Prime Minister, from sailing to Britain today to attend the wedding of Princess Elizabeth and Lieut. Mountbatten.

Mr. Mackenzie King became so engrossed in the shops that he headed for the Queen Elizabeth later than he intended but he caught the giant liner a minute before she sailed.

Another passenger was Arthur Creech Jones, British Colonial Secretary, who said he was going back to London on important Colonial business, including the plan for Dominion status for Ceylon.

Mr. Mackenzie King intends also to visit Canadian battlefields in Holland.—Reuter and Associated Press.

The Battle For Kirin

Shanghai, Nov. 2.

While the battle for Kirin continued today without any appreciable change in the respective positions of the opposing forces, a Government column, pushing northward along the Mukden-Changchun railway, has reached a point less than 40 miles south of Changchun.

This column, spearheaded by units of China's crack New First Army—which was trained and equipped by the Americans in India during the war for the Burma campaign—has already passed Kungchaling, about 37 miles south of the Manchurian capital, and is expected to link up very soon with the force which has begun a drive southward from Changchun.

In the Kirin sector, heavy fighting has continued in the past 24 hours, with the Nationalists throwing in large numbers of bombers and fighters in an attempt to silence the Communist artillery.

The Yulin area in Shensi Province, about 100 miles north of Yanan, remained the most important war front south of the Great Wall, as both sides hurled reinforcements into the struggle.

In the past 24 hours, Government planes are said to have dropped large quantities of supplies to the isolated Kirin garrison.

The besieging Communists are reported to total some 10 full brigades commanded personally by General Ho Lung, No. 2 commander in the Communist army (ranking next to General Chu Teh, the Communist Commander-in-Chief).

Official reports, while insisting that Yulin is still in Government hands, admit that the situation is "critical."

Meanwhile, in Shanghai—now marked on Government maps as completely recaptured—there seems to be a large-scale revival of Communist guerrilla life, but Hepburn opened the Japanese heart."—Associated Press.

Britain Bid Highest On The Dogs

London, Nov. 1. Britons wagered at least £61,640,576 more on dogs during 1946 than in the previous years, the Churches Committee on Gambling reported today.

The bets at totalisators totalling 190,213,285 Pounds compared with 137,572,608 Pounds in 1945, the committee reported.

The figures are based on 60 per cent of the track which have totalisators and do not include betting with bookmakers.

"The public as yet seems unaware," the report stated, "that its economic pains are in part due to self-inflicted wounds."—Associated Press.

Teen-Age Informer Gaoled

Berlin, Nov. 1. Helene Schwaerzel, girl informer who betrayed Dr. Karl Goerdeler, the Lord Mayor of Leipzig and head of the Resistance Movement against Hitler, was sentenced to six years imprisonment today by a Berlin criminal court.

The court also confiscated the 1,000,000 marks reward which she received from Hitler for delivering up Goerdeler.

Last year the girl was sentenced to 15 years but the Public Prosecutor succeeded in getting a re-trial because he said the sentence was too severe.

Helene Schwaerzel denounced Dr. Goerdeler in 1944, after she had met him at a restaurant.

His co-conspirators had planned to make him chief of the new Government after Hitler's assassination.—United Press.

Censure On S. Africa

Flushing, Nov. 2. After an all-day debate, the General Assembly of the United Nations, approved by 41 to 13 votes (with four nations abstaining) a bitterly contested resolution implicitly censuring the Union of South Africa for failing to place the South-West Africa mandate under United Nations trusteeship.

The Assembly recommended such action last year but South Africa refused to comply.

The vote, which found the colonial countries outvoted by Moslem and Slav countries and most of the Asiatic nations, was a victory for India, which led the long fight against South Africa.—United Press.

THE FUTURE OF SHIPBUILDING IN BRITAIN U.K. Produces Most Tonnage In World

By SIR WILFRID AYRE.
Chairman Of The British Shipbuilding Research Association
Some three and a half million gross tons of new shipping are at present under construction throughout the world, of which British shipyards are building more than half. In other words, Britain is building more tonnage than the rest of the world put together.

These orders—from shipowners in 20 different countries as well as our own—represent an important contribution to our export trade; in technical merit they surpass all earlier standards of efficiency.

In Britain today every class of ship, from lightships to ocean liners, is building, fine, fast, modern ships are on the stocks for countries like Denmark, Holland and Sweden, which are ordinarily important shipbuilding and shipping nations themselves; for the Argentine, Brazil

In short supply; successful research in new hull forms to give greater speed without increase in fuel consumption; new shipbuilding methods in relation to minimum manpower available—all these could not fail to leave an indelible mark on British post-war shipbuilding technique.

"Models"

British shipbuilding will not be judged, however, by what it produces in 1947, but by its "models" four and five years hence. By then, shipowners will know where they stand with regard to future world trading conditions. The shipbuilder who anticipates this effect will be wise.

So long as British shipbuilders prefer to build quality ships, it is impossible to standardize. Standardization stifles initiative and the satisfying joy of creative originality, and cuts down the high standard of craftsmanship for which British-built ships are renowned.

That full understanding of scientific progress, co-ordinated with up-to-date research, should be available to British shipbuilders and marine engineers is a vital necessity for the survival of the industry.

Almost complete adoption of the Diesel turbine and early practical development of the gas turbine will bring greater speed. Owners of vessels intended primarily for cargo service are planning to attract a few passengers on their ships. Some regard this as the sea transport of the future, when those who cannot afford first-class liner or air travel may prefer to travel more cheaply and in the comfortable society of a few passengers.

From this it is conceivable that the old type of slow 10,000-ton cargo liner may be replaced by vessels of not more than 5,000 or 6,000 tons with an increased service speed and other modern amenities. There are many signs that shipowners in Great Britain are beginning to think along these lines and that the medium size, fast, Diesel-driven ship is indeed the choice for the future.

Given appropriate priority, Britain's shipbuilding industry will be able to meet the demand for more exports. The high cost of building ships, which is deplored by the industry itself, is dependent upon demand which is related in turn to the urgent needs of transport throughout the world. While freight charges remain high, the cost of ships will remain the same. If economic freights cannot be maintained there is no price level which will interest the prospective shipowner. As soon as the urgent demand for ships eases we shall see an era of lower costs.

Example

For example, in the United States some shipowners cannot operate their vessels successfully owing to the present high

New York, Nov. 2.
Selected stocks edged into November with moderate recovery but for the week the market was thrown for another moderate loss. The short session was propped by bidding for a technical comeback. levels (between double and two and a half times our own) with the result that the demand for ships on the other side of the Atlantic is very small in relation to the proportion to the total production capacity of the American shipbuilding industry.

In an industry such as ours, which has suffered successive booms and slumps, we must always be prepared for the problems of tomorrow. The present trend of events in the United States should not as a red light warning to British shipbuilders and an indication that there can be no room for complacency in shipbuilding today.

In the coming struggle for shipbuilding supremacy—perhaps for survival itself—the laurels will assuredly go to the country in which everyone concerned with the building of ships—designer, draughtsman, craftsman, salesman—plays a part worthy of his calling.

There is sufficient vitality in British shipbuilding to keep in the forefront of the shipping world in the race. We can shake off either contesting nations, but only if we surpass them in technical progress, economical productivity and selling price. Without these qualities we will

U.S. Calls For Price Controls

Washington, Nov. 2.
President Harry Truman's top economic advisers called tonight for a part-way return to wartime controls for inflation.

They said that by doing so the United States could safely support the Marshall Plan of foreign aid and still reduce the national debt.

Saints Suffer A Defeat

St. Joseph suffered an inglorious defeat when they lost to Kwong Wah by the odd goal in three in the First Division of the Football League at Causeway Bay in spite of the inclusion of Alrosa and Pantelon. On the Club ground, Sing Tao's championship hopes were shattered when they sustained a similar defeat from Kowloon Motor Bus.

At Caroline Hill, Eastern accounted for a weak Devons side by two clear goals, but generally speaking their display was not very impressive. After ten successive defeats, Police managed to collect two points when they beat the R.A.F. at Boundary Road by the narrow margin of two goals to one.

Eastern 2 Devons 0

Eastern had little difficulty in beating a weakened Devons side by two clear goals in the First Division of the Football League at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon. The only goal scored for Devons was by a late free kick.

Devons' departure have greatly weakened the Devons' side and a number of players were seen in strange positions. In spite of this, Devons had their fair share of the play in the first half.

Wright, in the Devon goal, had a busy afternoon and secured a hard-fought win. In the second half, Eastern's attack was more effective and they scored two goals.

Sing Tao 1 K.M.B. 2

Sing Tao came a cropper in their match against Kowloon Motor Bus at the Club ground at Happy Valley yesterday and were beaten by 2 goals to 1.

Kowloon Motor Bus scored their victory by a strong attack and by the inclusion of Alrosa and Pantelon.

Tam Yick-tai was a lively goal-keeper who repeatedly showed a clean pair of heels to the low flying Sing Tao defense. Chiu Chi-fai, the left winger, was also fast for the attacking defense.

Mankad, as half-back, played a good game for Kowloon Motor Bus. By dropping back to play a defensive game, he completely upset the calculations of the Sing Tao defense. He was

Police 2 R.A.F. 1

Police registered their first win of the season when they beat the R.A.F. at Boundary Road yesterday by two goals to one in the First Division of the Football League. All goals were scored in the first half.

The game was evenly contested and hard knocks were given and received by both sides. The Police showed better combination in the attack and were sound in their defense.

R.A.F. fielded a team which consisted of a number of newcomers. Soutar (the captain), left back, was a tower of strength and frustrated many dangerous movements by the Police attackers.

In the intermediate line, Anderson gave a good display. The attack lacked combination and though they tried hard failed in front of the goal.

For the Police team, Pope was outstanding and received excellent support from Gordon in the half-back line. In the attack, Callaghan and Morrison were the best. The game opened with the R.A.F. attacking strongly and Dudley gave them the lead with a goal. Leung Shing soon put the Police on level terms.

Pope gave the Police the lead before the interval. There was no scoring in the second half. Police's Wang Wai-fung, Fung Kwan-sing, Lam Wai, Pope, Gordon, Howlett, Leung Shing, Morrison, Chan On-yee, Callaghan and Morrison were the best.

Rugby League

Wigan today defeated Belle Vue Rangers by 10 points to 7 in the final of the Lancashire Rugby League Cup, while in the Yorkshire Cup final Wakefield Trinity and Leeds drew 7-7. The replay of the Yorkshire final takes place on November 8.

Other Rugby League results today were: Hull 13, New Zealanders 7; Barrow 23, Hull-Kingston 7; Rovers 13, Bramley 6; Workington 10, Dewsbury 10; Huddersfield 4, Featherstone 4; Rovers 10, Batley 9; Halifax 3, Swinton 0; Hunslet 32, York 7; Oldham 4, Liverpool 4; Wakefield 11, Rochdale Hornets 4; Wakefield 10, Bradford 13; Keighley 10, Featherstone 4.

IRISH BOXER TO FIGHT IN U.S.

New York, Nov. 1. Rinty Monaghan, world fly-weight champion from the North of Ireland, opened negotiations with the Twentieth Century Sporting Club today for a title defense against Dado Marino of Honolulu at Madison Square Garden sometime this winter.

PROBABLES DRAW

The Probables and Possibles played to an 18 points-all draw in the Welsh International Trial Rugby Union match today, while Cumberland and Cheshire lost their matches in the County Championship.

Yorkshire scored a very narrow victory over Cumberland—11 points to 10, but Lancashire had an easier time against Cheshire who they beat by 23 points to 12.

The Australians displayed fine form today, defeating the London Counties by 20 points to 8.

Arsenal Still Unbeaten

London, Nov. 1. Arsenal, leaders of the English Football League (First Division), kept their unbeaten record in their 14th match of the season by drawing with Chelsea—who kept their unbeaten home record—in a scoreless game at the Chelsea ground at Stamford Bridge, before a crowd of 67,000.

The gates were closed an hour before the match began, and thousands had to be turned away, while ticket racketeers did a brisk trade.

The selectors for the England team were present and saw a sparkling game worthy of the occasion.

Chelsea showed more precision in passing, but they found the Arsenal defence a barrier to success. They went very near to scoring, however, when a shot from their centre-forward, Armstrong, rolled along the goal-line before it was cleared.

Arsenal had a sharpshooter in Roper, their right-winger, who roused the crowd with a couple of fierce drives.

Chelsea, who had spent a week at the seaside in preparation for this game—one of the best seen at Stamford Bridge for a long time—played with great fire, especially in the first half. They were without the services of their international centre-forward, Tommy Lawton, who was playing for the reserves.

Arsenal now lead the First Division by two points, since their nearest rivals, Preston North End, lost to Aston Villa at the latter's ground by four goals to one.

West Bromwich Albion, who won by the odd goal in three at Rury, strengthened their lead in the Second Division to two

BRUSSELS MATCH

In Brussels today, a representative side composed mainly of Belgium's reserve players beat the London Football Association team, drawn from London reserve sides, by three goals to one at the Heysel Stadium.

Twenty-five thousand people watched the game, in which all the goals were scored in the second half.

After a goalless first half, the Belgian forwards, combining well, gave the London side a harassing time.

Hobbes of Charlton Athletic, did fine work in goal, but generally the defence was too overworked to get the forwards going. The Barnet amateur, Phipps, was a lively centre-forward, and Fell of Charlton, who scored London's goal, was always a dangerous right-winger.

The Belgian inside forwards, Govaert and Varenbergh, were prominent schemers, and paved the way for the two goals scored by Vandenberg, the centre-forward, and the one scored by Leclercq, the left half.—Reuter.

FILIPINOS TROUNCE THE ROVERS

(By Grandstand)

Despite inclement weather, three League games were played off yesterday. Ino Castro's Fighting Filipinos overwhelmed the Rovers 12-3 in the curtain-raiser, in a slugging spree highlighted by four homers, to set a new League record for round-trippers in one game.

The South China—V.R.C. clash was called off by Umpire Hal Winglee on account of rain, after three innings of play, with the Carolines leading 5-3.

In the afternoon the Wahos notched their first victory in the Ladies' League after humiliating the Madcap Aces 13-5, while the Merry Madcap Men's team subdued 'Doc' Molten's Baseballers with a basket-ball score of 20-12.

The Rovers set the pace in the first frame when Alvaro Xavier thumped Joe Franco's first pitch right on the nose to chalk up the first tally, but the fighting Islanders replied with a trio of four-masters in a row in the third innings to put them ahead, and put the game on ice with a 5-run surge in the fifth frame.

The Mountaineer Edjo Almeida for the black-jerseyed Rovers walked one, but was banished from the hill when the Filipinos hit him at will in the beginning of the third frame. South-paw, Cesar Coelho, who took over fanned three and walked none. For the victors, Joe Franco fanned three, and issued three free passes to first.

The Walloping Wahos out-hit the Madcap Aces, and supported by brilliant fielding, came out on top with a 13-5 verdict.

Mixed Metaphor?

In the initial frame the Green Owls collected five markers on two bingles, one from a four-master by Hilda Soares, and went on to add another five more in the next two frames, and to make things sure notched a further three in the final chapter.

The Aces replied with three in the first on many batters, but when Edith Xaxier, in the left garden, pulled down Girtle Gann's screaming clothes-line blow, all the wind seem to have been taken out of their sails, the next two going down in succession.

Apart from a lone tally in the next semester, the Aces were horse-collared for the next three outings. In a fifth inning rally they netted four runs on an error sandwiched between two bingles, and managed to place two on the bases in the next with one out.

Betty Baptista coming to the plate with ducks in the pond slashed a graze-cutter 'do third-sacker Aida Castro, who came up with it tentatively to force Alex Mendonza at third, for the second out, and when diminutive Margie-Xavier grounded-out it was all over bar the shouting.

Fielding gem of the day was when Edith Xaxier hauled down Girtle Gann's liner to the cut-field and to prove it was no fluke she did it again in the fourth canto.

Irene Castilho, holding the windy alley for the Green Owls was spectacular, gathering in five flies. Margie Xavier did much chaser for the Aces, walked two and fanned two batters, Teresa "Choochoo" Baptista who collected a beautiful shiner off Irene Castilho's foul tip, replaided Margie on the hill in the fourth, whiffed one. Therese "Big Chier" Noronha, who played for the Owls walked four and fanned none.

Homers were clouted by Hilda Soares, Terry Noronha and Irene Castilho, while Celeste Gutierrez and Aida Castro smashed out doubles. Celis Gutierrez hit safely three times in four trips to the plate, to mark her as this season's Queen of Swat—so far!

Three sparkling double killings were dished out in this game. Second Sacker Alec Mendonza for the Madcaps executing two for the Madcaps playing who gathered in Gilly Winglee's pop fly and again when she froze Terry Noronha's wallop over second. Irene Castilho for the Green Owls clamped her hands on Mendonza's pop fly and tossed the apple to third sacker Aida Castro who taught Lilia Gann off the base.

Score by Innings of this game are: WAHOS: 5 3 2 0 0 3 = 13 Hits 11 1 1 1 3 1 = 9 Runs 11 1 1 1 3 1 = 9

MADCAPS: 3 1 0 0 4 0 = 8 Hits 12 1 0 0 2 2 = 8 In the night-cap, Ed-Marques Merry Madcap Men's Team easily accounted for 'Doc' Molten's Aces in a hitting spree. Roberto Luz, who loosed the mound for the losers was yanked in the third in favour of Manolo Souza. Both hurlers had nothing more than a prayer on the ball and were nicked for a total of 12 blows including home runs by Rene Siquiera and Robbie Rocha. Kelly Silva-Netto, pitching for the Madcaps was no better, walking 7 Moltheimans—no one was struck on either side.

The Madcap hitters committed 8 errors, of which Rene Siquiera "Potted" and published for the proprietors. The Newspaper Enterprise Limited, by MARY JAMES KAT Windsor House, Hong Kong.

Weather Stops Play

Owing to the inclement weather yesterday, the third Interport Cricket Trial was not played. Other than soccer, all other sports were cancelled for the same reason.

Herbert's Last Race

London, Nov. 1.

Fred "Brusher" Herbert, one of the best known jockeys in the world, having ridden in 18 countries, rode his last race here today when the 61-year-old veteran had the mount on Turkish Lass at Hurst Park, near here.

The story did not have a happy ending, as Turkish Lass, which had no form to recommend it, and started an outsider at 100 to 6, ran unplaced, but all the same the crowd gave Herbert a great ovation. Herbert was well drawn near the rails, and as usual was the last away.

He led for three furlongs, but the horse was not good enough. When Herbert returned to unsaddle, there were cries of "good old Freddy."

No Peer Herbert, born in Canada, has spent 51 years in the saddle, and has ridden for Kings, Princes and Dukes throughout the world.

Nearly 40 years ago he won the Kentucky Derby on Donaw, and the following year he rode the winner of the Canadian Derby.

Herbert has no peer from the starting gate, and there is no jockey in the world today, not even Gordon Richards, who could better him at this. His fast getaway won him many races.

Among the countries in which he rode are Russia, Hungary, Germany, Brazil, Argentina, Canada, United States and India and Australia.

Herbert has had dozens of spills in his long career, including the breaking of an arm and ribs and the fracturing of his skull.—Reuter.

Faulty Decision By Amarnath

Melbourne, Nov. 1.

Amarnath's faulty decision in compiling his batting order today cost the Indians two wickets and wasted half an hour in today's play here of the Indian cricket-tourists against Victoria.

The Indian captain, batting at the top of his form, sent in Nayudu and Kishenchand when quick scoring would have given India time to force a win.
